

Training

Company owners and managers when questioned often say that the problem with training programs is that training companies are spitting out the same theoretical training formats in a boring method that is useless for their employees. At BDH Solutions we tailor your training programs to your particular needs.

Training programs may be arranged for your group or on a one-on-one individual basis. You stay in control of your training program and methods. Your program may be fast-paced or slowed to meet your business needs. All training will be interactive and will provide tools that you and your employees can utilize to further success. All training situations are evaluated for industry specific material. Both management and self assessment methods are utilized and results tracked. BDH Solutions offers training in the following areas: Management Skills, Listening and Verbal Communication Skills, Quickbooks Accounting Programs, Goal Setting and Time Management, Sales Customer Service - Presentation Skills, Successful Team Building, In House Marketing

Whether the training program is organized for your new hires or long-term employees BDH Solutions will work with you to achieve and maintain positive results.

Many times business owners wish to conduct their own training, but do not have the time to prepare their information into professional training materials. BDH also offers a program to aid you in taking your training thoughts and producing professional workbooks, visuals and powerpoint presentations that you may utilize in your own program. We also aid you in developing assessment materials to aid in tracking the success of your program.
